Time Capsules

A time capsule has different things in it to show how people used to live in the past. It's like a little museum in a box! People usually bury time capsules in the ground, but there are also some time capsules in space.

In 1939, the Westinghouse Time Capsule was created as a message to the future. It was shown at the New York World's Fair before being buried. It still lies under the ground. It contains many things, including a telephone, a camera, money, plant seeds, a dictionary, and also photographs, movies, records, and magazines. There's even a letter from the famous scientist Albert Einstein, written in his ink pen.

This time capsule is buried in a secret place. In many libraries around the world, there is a book with a map of where to find the time capsule and instructions on how to open it in 5,000 years..
