What are the main  of news? Where do journalists get their stories from? Well, there's always an element of personal , i.e. seeing things with your own eyes and describing what you see. In the same way, journalists interview a lot of  to events, to find out what happened from the people who actually saw it happening. Journalists can also find their own news stories, through investigation, where they do a lot of research to  something completely new. They can also find out useful information from  media sites. It's fair to say that a large number of news stories are provided by businesses and other organisations as press  . Organisations also hold press conferences, where a large number of journalists are invited to listen to important  and then ask questions.
