

PRESENT PERFECT ACTIVITY

CELEBRATE THE WORLD

Some holidays and celebrations are different from country to country, they vary from culture to culture. There are many people who like to travel around the world in order to experience holidays in different ways and to learn more from other cultures.

Read the following text. In it you will find information about some festivities in different countries. Pay attention and identify the phrases in present perfect.

READING

CARNIVAL IN RIO DE JANEIRO, BRAZIL

Have you ever seen samba dancers? They prepare their costumes and decorations throughout the year at the same time that they perfect their technique and performance. This party has been celebrated in South America before Lent for hundreds of years.

PRESENT PERFECT ACTIVITY

The best vacation I have ever had

Vacation periods are often connected to holidays or special celebrations each country has.

Write a postcard of about 80 words describing the best holiday you have ever had using the present perfect. Follow the guidelines below:

- → What has been your best holiday?
- → Where did you spend this celebration?
- → What did you do during this time?
- → Who did you spend it with?

Remember that postcards, just like letters, must have a salutation such as Dear friend, Hi Maria!, etc and a farewell, like: See you soon! Regards, etcetera.

Now, take a look at the rubric that you will use to get your score when you finish your writing.

Example

Dear Gerardo:

I wanted to give you a postcard because I've just remembered our trip to Puerto Vallarta. That has been one of the best holidays I've had. I remember Damian, you and I stayed at a very nice hotel where we could see whales. It was whale-watching season, remember? We visited the Malecón in the evenings and we had the best time together. Hope we get to do that again soon!

Regards
Larissa
