MENUS IN THE SKY?

When you book a flight to go abroad, do you think about what you will eat on the plane? For some people, good food on a flight is important and it _____ them when the flight attendants bring them _____, unappetising food. The truth is it's very difficult to prepare _____ airline food. For safety reasons, airlines have to use _____ food — they heat it on the plane in special ovens.

However, airlines are trying to improve their food. For example, Korean Air gets its _____ from cows on its own special farm and United Airlines is going to start offering ice cream for _____ to its first-class and business-class passengers. Of course, you can always bring your own food. You can buy it at the _____ near your house or at the _____ just before you get on the plane.
