Now trending in health and fitness

More people are getting into exercising than ever before. With the number of fitness freaks growing, so is the choice of keep-fit classes. Forget about boring running and weights machines at the gym, and try something new, fun and different. Here are four of the latest exercise classes taking the fitness world by storm.

BOOGIECISE

For anyone who loves dancing, this class is a must-try. The class takes place in a nightclub on a dancefloor which not only lights up, but also changes colour! Copy the instructor's choreographed dance routines while the DJ pumps out classic disco, electro, pop and house music from the 70s, 80s, 90s and 00s.

SURFERCISE

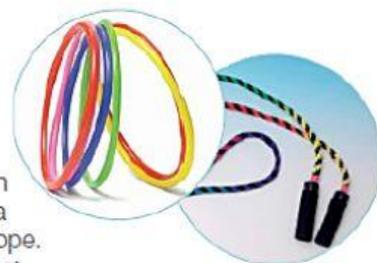

This class was invented by surfers in Hawaii to help them be fitter in the water. It's basically weight training under water. Using a variety of exercises, you will carry, push and pull weights around a swimming pool. The water makes the workout gentle, but the weights challenge your cardiovascular system.

TRAMPO-LEAN

Twice as effective as running, and twice as much fun as karaoke, Trampo-lean involves bouncing around on a trampoline for an hour, doing different exercises the whole time. If you want something to wake you up after a long day at work, or to kick start your weekend, this might be the class for you!

SCHOOL FIT

This class will take you back to the school playground, but also give you a high-intensity, full-body workout. The main equipment for this class is a hula hoop and a skipping rope. It may take you a while to get the hang of it, but you can look forward to superhuman coordination and core strength if you do!
