

Listen to each sentence.

Select whether the sentence is true or false.

A cartoon illustration of a savanna landscape. In the background, there are green trees and a bright yellow sun. In the foreground, a giraffe stands on the left, a lion lies down in the center, an elephant stands on the right, and a hippo is partially submerged in a body of water on the far right. Five sentences are overlaid on the scene, each with two response boxes labeled 'true' and 'false'.

Mammals have no backbone. ☐ true ☐ false

Mammals drink their mother's milk. ☐ true ☐ false

Mammals lay eggs. ☐ true ☐ false

Mammals have hair or fur. ☐ true ☐ false

Mammals are warm-blooded. ☐ true ☐ false