Sports Tourism

People who enjoy sports have a great variety of tourist activities to do. It depends on what people want to do. There are three categories: Sport event tourism is an activity in which fans go to see specific international or national events. One example is the FIFA World Cup, some travel agencies organize tours for people to enjoy this popular sport. Another event is the Olympic Games, people buy tickets to see sports and support their favorite team. The most popular sports are martial arts: judo and taekwondo; water sports: sailing and diving; wrestling, shooting, and boxing. Active sport tourism is a type of tourism in which athletes travel to other cities or countries to compete in a sports event. In Ecuador, one of the most popular events is Ironman triathlon. It takes place every year in Manta. Athletes from all over the world travel to Ecuador to enjoy the beautiful beaches and to participate. This triathlon involves three sports: running, cycling and swimming. Nostalgia sport tourism is a specific tour to visit iconic places like stadiums or go to museums to know more about sports and famous players. In Europe, people can visit all the stadiums, tourist can enter the soccer field and the locker room. They can also see the trophies. In Guayaquil, people can visit a museum full of pictures of famous Ecuadorian athletes.
