Title:_____

Haris was preparing for a test that was to be held at school the next day. He had been neglecting his work recently and thus had a lot to catch up on. For hours he slogged at his table, trying to absorb as much information as he could. He really had a lot to study!

Soon it was midnight and still he had so much to go through. His father came to remind him that it was late. Haris nodded his head and said that he would go to bed soon. The hours passed and still Haris was at his table. When he finally did get to bed, he did not know what time it was.
