V Read the text. Based on the in formation from the text choose the correct answer and circle the letter in front of it:

London is the capital of the United Kingdom and it is one of the largest cities in Europe. Over 7 million people live there. That's almost 15 per cent of Britain's population.

London is really three cities – the City of London, the City of Westminster and the city of Southwark. At one time, they were three separate cities with farms and fields between them, but now they are parts of one big city.

The oldest part is the City of London. People just call it "The City". Thousands of people work here during the day, but only a few hundred people actually live here, because almost all of the buildings are banks or offices. At one time, St Paul's Cathedral was the tallest building in the city, but today it looks small among the modern skyscrapers.

The City of Westminster is the government centre. The Houses of Parliament, 10 Downing Street, Buckingham Palace and all the government buildings are here.

The City of Southwark is on the other side of the river. It's one of the poorest parts of London. There are lots of houses here and one of London's biggest stations – Waterloo.

To the north of Westminster is West End. All the big shops, theatres, restaurants and expensive hotels are here. Oxford Street is in the West End.

Originally London was a port and there were large docks east of the City. But modern ships are very big and they can't come up the river Thames to London, so in 1980s the docks closed down. The old buildings became flats and offices. At one time this was the poorest part of London, but now Docklands is a very fashionable place to live. London's tallest building, Canary Wharf Tower, is in Docklands.
