Kasem: I love your houseboat! Your home is really cool.

Josina: Is it your first time in Europe?

Kasem: Yes, it is. I like the Netherlands. It's quieter than at home. And it's very clean.

Josina: It's my first time in Asia too. Bangkok is much bigger and noisier than Amsterdam. It's exciting here!

Kasem: Do you like the view from the apartment?

Josina: Yes, it's fantastic. All those tall buildings!

Kasem: A house swap is a great idea. It's more interesting than a boring, expensive hotel. I don't like hotels

Josina: Really? I love hotels. My parents are terrible cooks. Hotel food is better than their cooking. Oh... It's half past six – time for dinner

Kasem: Right – it's five hours later in Thailand. It's time for lunch here.

A message from Jason ▼

The WE CAN! interview

Name: Jason O'Rourke

Home: Belfast, Northern Ireland

Hi Jason. Can you hear me?

I can, but please sit in front of me.

How much can you hear?

I can't hear in my right ear. In my left ear I'm 50% deaf, but my hearing aid helps.

What's it like for a deaf boy at school?

It's OK. Sometimes people say bad things when they see my hearing aid. They think I can't do normal things. But I can play football, watch TV – all the things they can do.

You write a very popular blog. Why is it popular?

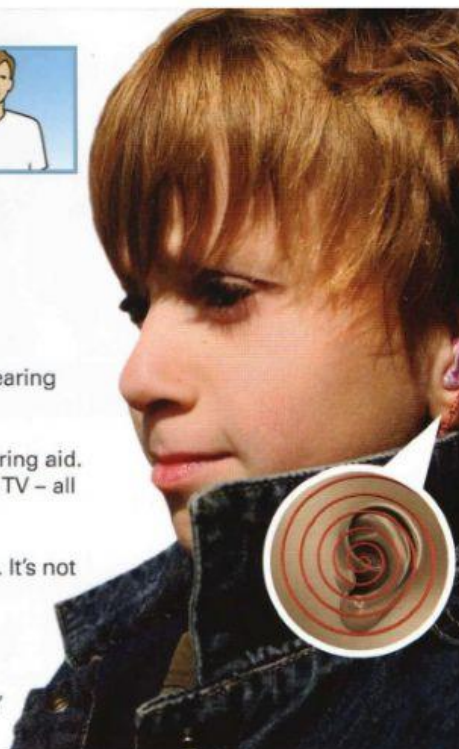

Because when people read it, they can understand my problems. It's not easy for a deaf person in a noisy world.

Can you use sign language?

Yes, I can. I use sign language with a deaf girl at this school.

Can other students understand you?

No, they can't! But they can say 'Hi', 'How are you?' and 'I'm fine' in sign language!
