Crash! Bang!

Heather ran into the kitchen. "Guess what, Dad—I'm going to join an orchestra!"

"That's a great idea," said Dad. "What are you going to play?"

"I'm going to play the drums and make them go crash! bang!" Heather grabbed two wooden spoons and drummed on the kitchen table.

Dad put his hands on his ears. "The drums? Are you sure? What about something like the violin, or the harp?"

"Nope. The drums," said Heather. Crash! Bang!

Dad picked up another spoon. He waved it in circles in the air and pointed toward the backyard.

"What are you doing?" Heather asked.

"I'm the conductor," said Dad with a smile. "And I'm conducting you and your drums outside so I can finish making dinner!
