Where playing video games IS real life

Anh Ngo doesn't have time for hobbies, she spends all her time playing video games. Anh and her friends are members of Cloud9, a video game team. She and the other members share a flat in Seoul. Since they left school, they have made playing video games their life.

Every day, Anh gets up at 10 a.m. and goes running for an hour, before sitting down at her computer and starting to play. She and her friends have a few breaks to eat and relax during the day and the evening, but Anh thinks that after midnight is when she has more fun playing. She usually goes to bed at 3 a.m.

Anh and the rest of the team need to train hard and keep fit, as top players need to do about 500 mouseclicks a minute. Video games are big business in South Korea, and the best players (like Cloud9) usually become even better-known than top baseball or volleyball players.

Some people get bored after playing video games for an hour or two. But these guys are actually getting paid to do something they love. Many of them would even do it for free!
