

The grammar and vocabulary are likely to be more than in other kinds of writing. The writing is objective rather than . There is a clear to the development of ideas and arguments. There are frequent references to of information in the same knowledge area. There may be frequent use of facts and figures or other . The writer may adopt a particular or develop an within the text. There may be claims expressed in language eg may, might, seems, possibly etc. There is likely to be evidence of thinking.