Plot

Edward Tulane is a _____ rabbit given to a ten-year-old girl named Abilene by her grandmother in the 1930s. He enjoys a pleasant but _____ life with his young mistress, who _____ him with the utmost love and respect, until an unfortunate incident finds him _____ overboard while vacationing on the RMS Queen Mary. Edward spends 297 days on the _____, until a _____ frees him from the seabed and a passing _____ and his buddy pull him from their fishing net. The man takes him home to his wife where he is referred to as _____ and wears dresses.

Edward is passed from hand to hand of a _____ of life-altering characters, such as a _____ and his dog and a four-year-old girl with _____ and her brother. Edward's journeys not only take him far from home, but even farther from the _____ rabbit he once was. Eventually, Edward is cruelly broken against a counter top edge, and _____ then offered for sale in a doll store for several years. He is finally bought by Abilene, his original _____, now married with a daughter of her own.

"She's beautiful," breathed Nellie. For a moment, Edward was confused. Was there some other object of beauty in the room? "What will I call her?" "Susanna?" said Lawrence.

He sank and sank and sank. He kept his eyes open the whole time. Not because he was brave, but because he had no choice.

He walked home, carrying Edward atop his left shoulder as if he were a conquering hero. The fisherman balanced him there, placing a callused hand at Edward's back.

Pellegrina took Edward from Abilene. She put him in his bed and pulled the sheet up to his whiskers. She leaned close to him. She whispered, "You disappoint me."

"Look, Mama," said Maggie, "look at him." "I see him," said the woman. She dropped the umbrella.

h)

"You going to give him a name, honey?" Bryce asked. "Jangles," said Sarah Ruth without taking her eyes off Edward. "Jangles, huh? That's a good name. I like that name."
