They can find here all necessary facilities. There is a railway station, and a few bus stops. Parents can leave their kids in a kindergarten and for older ones there is a great school with many different clubs and extra lessons. Worth visiting because of old ruins.

B. Greenborough

A town in the south of the country. It isn't big, only 30 thousand people. The population is becoming old, as teenagers are leaving for better schools and seasonal jobs. The old railways station is used only by adults going to work in neighbouring towns. Nevertheless, the town is well-known for old ruins. Tourists visit the castle and church every weekend and pay a lot of money to see the monuments.

C. Littletown

A small village in the south. The population is getting smaller due to lack of facilities. The local authorities closed down the kindergarten and pupils go to school in the neighbouring city by hired buses. The school is very good so parents are rather satisfied. Around the city you can find forests, fields and lakes. A good place to spend time with family or friends.

D. Crenwood

A small town in the east of the country. The population is around 15 thousand people. Citizens can find here all the necessary shops as well as cafes and restaurants.
