Jay is at the international food market today. He's got his mum's shopping list. He's going to buy <sup>1</sup> any / some vegetables and a <sup>2</sup> little / few packets of Chinese noodles. He's also going to buy <sup>3</sup> some / any Italian olive oil. There isn't <sup>4</sup> any / some jam at home, so he's going to buy a <sup>5</sup> jar / bottle of English jam. There isn't <sup>6</sup> many / much cheese at home either, so he's going to buy a <sup>7</sup> little / few now. Jay wants to make a pizza later, but there <sup>8</sup> isn't / aren't enough flour at home. He needs a <sup>9</sup> little / lot of tomatoes too. Jay isn't going to buy any chocolate today. His mum thinks he eats too <sup>10</sup> much / many chocolate.
