

A bus journey

Tasha climbed onto a .....

(crowd) bus which was going to take her to a nearby village. The wooden seats looked quite .....

(comfortable), so she decided to stand, even though a ..... (thought) passenger offered her a seat. As the bus moved through the countryside, it filled with women dressed in bright, ..... (color) clothes on their way to market to do their weekly shopping. "This is an ..... (forget) experience", thought Tasha who was beginning to feel

..... (optimist) about her journey.

More passengers climbed aboard laughing and chatting, and the noise became.....

(consider). Gradually, the bus grew hotter and Tasha began to feel a little .....

(anxiety) that she might not get to the door when the bus reached her stop. Fortunately, though, a ..... (sympathy) passenger saw her problem and shouted to the other passengers to let her pass and suddenly everyone made room for her to get off.