

| You say                                                                 | You hear                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Excuse me, please.Where's the TateModern?                       | <sup>1</sup> _____, I don'tlive here.                                                                                                                                     |
| Excuse me. Is theTate Modern nearhere?                          | The Tate Modern?It's near here, but Idon't know exactly<sup>2</sup> _____. Sorry.                                                                                 |
| Thank you.                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Excuse me. Can youtell me the way tothe Tate Modern,please? | Yes, of course.Go straight on.Go <sup>3</sup> _____ thechurch, then turn<sup>4</sup> _____ at thetraffic lights. Andit's at the end of thestreet. |
| Sorry, could you saythat again, please?                             | Yes, go straight on....You can't<sup>5</sup> _____ it!                                                                                                                |
| Thank you.                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                               |