If you are planning to visit japan, you need to fully immerse yourself in the culture. Table manners can be very different there. For example, it would be mistak to use your chopsticks to point to somebody. If you did this, your japanese host might misjudge you as immmpolite. but, whereas it is considered improper for americans to drink soup from the bowl, this is polite in Japan. your Japanese host might also encourage you to make slurping sounds when you eat noodles - so they will taste better!
