Smells like you've got a text

We experience so much of today's world through smartphones and computers, but only in an audio-visual way. You can see and hear, but not much else. What about our other senses – do they need to <sup>1</sup>.....? A computer scientist, Adrian David Chek, is asking the same question. He hasn't been <sup>2</sup>..... by the limitations of the online world. He's been <sup>3</sup>..... new ways of sending sense messages over the internet. A new device called Scentee has been developed that allows you to send a smell message! The device connects to an app on your smartphone and the smell is activated when opening a text. Professor Chek is also developing ways of <sup>4</sup>..... touch and taste messages..... using digital transmission. Who knows how quickly these ideas will <sup>5</sup>..... but just think how your sense of smell, touch and taste could <sup>6</sup>..... your whole online experience.
