

Test 3 (Standard) – Part 2

I. Put a suitable word into each gap:

In the thirteenth century in Wales, there was a handsome young prince called Llewellyn. He was very fond of (1) _____ and (2) _____ often go out into the forests and mountains with his favorite hunting dog, (3) _____ name was Gellert. (4) _____ day, however, he left Gellert (5) _____ home to guard his baby son who was only a (6) _____ months old. In the evening when the prince returned (7) _____ hunting he saw that his house was (8) _____ a terrible mess. The furniture (9) _____ been knocked (10) _____ and there was blood on the walls. He could not find his baby son. Then he saw his dog Gellert (11) _____ towards him, covered in blood. The prince (12) _____ that his dog had attacked and killed his son. Prince Llewellyn became violently angry, (13) _____ his sword and killed the dog with one blow. However, when he looked around his house more carefully he found his son lying under a chair, alive (14) _____ well. Then he saw the dead body of a huge wolf. He realized that Gellert had (15) _____ his son's life (16) _____ fighting and killing the wolf. The prince was horrified (17) _____ the mistake he had (18) _____ and when he buried his dog he built (19) _____ enormous pile of stones to mark the spot, which can (20) _____ be seen today. He never went hunting again.

II. Complete these sentences with the correct form of open:

1. I'd rather not _____ the door myself.
2. I want you _____ the door.
3. On _____ his letter, her face changed.
4. Would you mind _____ the door ?
5. If only the shops _____ earlier.
6. She _____ a boutique soon in a very smart district.

III. Change into passive voice:

1. Have you seen John anywhere?

⇒

2. The girl, whom I have been teaching for two months, will be likely to buy that luxurious car.

⇒ That luxurious car

3. The teacher made us do a lot of homework last week.

⇒ We

4. It is said that many people are homeless after the flood.

⇒ Many people

5. Everyone is talking about his strange behaviors.

⇒

6. They told the new students where to sit.

⇒