My name is Ben Harvey. I'm a music student and I play the piano, the guitar and the drums. In fact, I play the drums in a rock band. I love all types of music, from opera to rap. But my friends only like rock or heavy metal and they don't listen to different types of music. I think this is silly. In my blog you'll find information about classical music concerts, opera music, country music, new bands and singers. If you really like music, you'll love this blog.

Ellie Francis

I first heard Ellie Francis at a concert in Chicago. Ellie studied classical music but now she's a jazz singer. She often performs with her friends Marty Sherman (saxophone) and Jarvis Mason (piano). Ellie is travelling to this city in December and she is giving three concerts at the Cotton Plantation Club. You should buy your tickets for the concert soon. Now click here and listen to the first track of her new album, Dreamin' Mississippi.

Street Noyz

If you like hip hop, you'll love Street Noyz – the newest hip hop group from Ireland. The members of the group met when they were still at school. Rory is the best dancer, but all the boys are amazing. The group became famous when they won a talent competition last year. They practise every day. Watch the video. You'll love them!
