«Gravity» by Alfonso Cuarón is a _____ (1) that keeps the tension by many artistic means at once: people in an isolated environment, hopeless situation and of course the perfect _____ (2) play — George Clooney (Matt Kowalski) and Sandra Bullock (Ryan Stone).

The vast emptiness around Kowalski and Stone, the understanding that in the entire universe nobody can save or help them, the total and complete loneliness of a tiny human being in the endless ocean of space — this is what gave me chills while watching the film.

The film is really _____ (3). It is impossible to look away from the screen, because every little detail is important and helps to engage the audience deeper into the situation. The actors were great and their _____ (4) was convincing.

So I would like to strongly recommend watching «Gravity» to all who read this review.
