Costa Rica has different public services to help people. Some of them are ICE, INS, CCSS, A y A and INVU. The ICE works with local and international telecommunications. They are responsible for the good operation of phones, cell phones, telegrams, and Internet. The CCSS offers public medical services for workers and their families. They have hospitals, clinics, and small clinics (called EBAIS) all over the country. They also offer rehabilitation programs, dental care services, etc. The INVU helps people buy economical new houses giving them facilities to pay because this institution has low interest rates (9%). Also, when there is a natural disaster (earthquakes, avalanches, and hurricanes) and people lose their houses, the INVU builds new houses for them.
