Lesson 1   Reviewing your Document   - Track Changes

Collaborating on Documents.

Word contains features that make it easy for several people to work on a document together. Rather than passing a hard copy of the document containing manual changes back and forth, you have Word automatically track the changes, and then you can pass the document electronically.
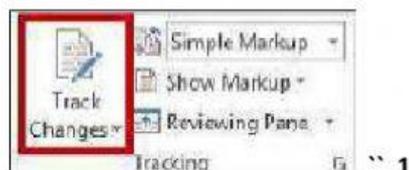

Track Changes

By using the Track changes tool, you can easily see what change have been made to the existing document. This feature is very useful if you are collaborating with others, or wish to make suggestions that can be later accepted or rejected. Furthermore you can quickly switch between different views to see the extent of the changes, or if you wish to view the original document in its entirety.

If you wish make changes to a document that you want to share with others, you must enable Track Changes first before making any changes to your document.

1. In the Ribbon, click on the Review tab.

2. In the Tracking group, click on Track Changes (1).

3. Word will now begin to track changes to your document, inserting text,deleting text etc.The Track Changes button will be shaded blue to indicate that track changes has been activated.

4. To turn off track changes. Click the Track Changes button.

Note: Track Changes will remain on unless it is deactivated; even if you save your document. Be sure to turn off track changes if you don't want others to track changes. If you want to prevent others from turning off track changes, see Locking Track Changes.

Making Changes to your Document with Track Changes

Once Track Changes has been activated, Word will make note of all changes to your documents. To make changes to you document, simply edit the document as you normally would. The default settings for change will appear as red lettering for inserting, and red lettering with a strikethrough for deletions. (2)
