future forms

objective: teach students the future forms, learning grammar rules that allows students to have better writing of English along the way

PRESENT CONTINUOUS

we often use present continuous to talk about future events that are already planned and decided, when a date and a place have been chosen

- im seeing the dentist at 6
- we are getting married next week
- im flying to canada tomorrow morning.

be going to

we can also use be going to for future arrangements present continuous vs be going to we can normally use both, present continuos and going to, to talk about future plans, but the present continuous emphasizes the fact that we have already chosen a place, on the other hand going to emphasizes the intention to do something

- Im going to have a drink after the event(its my intention
- im having a drink with some coworkers after work(it has already been arranged)

FUTURE CONTINUOUS

we can also use future continuous instead of the present continuous for future events, that have already been planed or decided

- we will be coming next weekend
- we will be leaving at 10 tonight.

we often use the future continuous to ask politely about future arrangements

- will you be going home next summer?

and of course, we use the future continuous for situations or actions that will be in progress at a certain time in the future

- this time next week we will be traveling to new Germany.
- tomorrow at 5 you will be doing your English exam.

PRESENT SIMPLE

we use the present simple for future events, that are sheduled or timetabled

- the train leaves at 6
- shops close at 8
- I have my yoga calss tomorrow at 10

Warm up activities

PREDICTIONS

WILL

we use will to talk about something we think that will happen

- they think he will win the election
- she will be a good doctor

be going to

we use be going to to talk about something that was very near to happen or that we see is going to happen(there is present evidence)

- don't drive this car like a crazy man, we are going to have an accident
- the doctor said im going to be just fine

FUTURE PERFECT

future perfect simple

we use the future perfect simple for actions that will be finished before certain time in the future

- by 2050 researchers will find a cure for cancer
- by this time next year I will have graduated from college

we can use the future perfect simple, to talk about the duration of a situation until a certain time in the future(with stative verbs

- by the time I leave, I will have been in england for 7 months
- in 2 years we will have been married for 20 years

FUTURE PERFECT CONTINUOUS

we use the future perfect continuous with dynamic verbs to talk about the duration of a situation until a certain time in the future

EVALUATION

read the following text

Justin and Megan have a surprise for their two children, Sally and Timmy. They are going to have a special guest soon. "Can you guess who it will be?" Megan asks.

Sally and Timmy take turns guessing.

"Will Grandma visit us soon?" Timmy asks. Megan tells Timmy that Grandma is not going to visit soon.

"Is Uncle Bill going to stay with us again?" Sally asks. Justin tells Sally that Uncle Bill is not going to stay with them again.

Justin and Megan give their children another hint. "She is going to arrive in about 6 months," Megan says. "And she is going to stay with us for a very long time."

"Where will she sleep?" Sally asks. Megan and Justin tell Sally that their special guest is going to sleep in their bedroom at first. Then, she will have her own bedroom.

Sally and Timmy ask a few more questions, but they cannot guess who the special guest will be. "Who is going to visit us?" Sally and Timmy ask at the same time.

Justin says, "Well, you probably haven't noticed yet, but your Mother is pregnant! She is going to have a baby!"

"You are going to have a new little sister in 6 months!" Megan exclaims. Timmy and Sally cannot believe what they hear!

Sally is excited. She knows that she is going to be a good big sister. "I am going to have a sister!" Sally shouts.

Timmy groans. "I wish I was going to have a brother," he says.

Megan and Justin hug their children and laugh. They know that Sally and Timmy are going to love their new little sister!
