

Match the sentences with the correct explanation

- 1) I've never seen such chaos!
- 2) How was such a huge change come about in just a single generation?
- 3) Working on teams is completely natural for so many teens and young adults.
- 4) They often complain that "the job was just so boring".

So/SUCH

We use so and such to add emphasis and intensify a description:

a) so + adjective/adverb:

The trip was so long. He speaks so slowly.

b) so + much/many/little/few + noun:

I have so much work to do this afternoon.

c) such + (a/an) + (adjective) + noun:

He's such a supportive manager.

d) such + noun to mean "this kind of":

I've never read such nonsense before.

NOTE: We often use that with so/such to talk about a result or consequence:

The job was so boring that I decided to quit.
