LIVEWORKSHEETS

Dear Angie,

I just started my first year of junior high school, and so far it's a nightmare to me. The other kids make fun of my hair, the clothes I wear, and the way I walk and talk. They seem so different from me, and I feel like I don't belong here. I was thinking I could get a new haircut. It could be something like what the fashionable girls have. Also, I could learn to walk and talk like them. However, the clothes are going to be a problem because my parents don't really make a lot of money, and I don't want to ask them to buy newer and more expensive ones. I really want to fit in and make some friends at school. Can you help me?
