

A Listen to an interview about computer addiction. Tick (✓) A, B, or C.

1 What does the interviewer say about computer addiction in her introduction?

- A It causes disagreement among experts. ☐
- C It is unlikely that it really exists. ☐
- B It affects a great many people. ☐

2 Colin says that one reason why computer addiction is a difficult subject is that...

- A people don't want to think that it is similar to common addictions ☐
- B it is easy for people to be addicted to computers without realizing it ☐
- C reasons why people use computers for a long time vary considerably ☐

3 What is Colin's point about hobbies?

- A People don't usually think that a hobby can be an addiction. ☐
- B They can be just as addictive as computer use. ☐
- C Many people spend longer doing hobbies than using computers. ☐

4 What does Colin say about computer-game addiction?

- A Official organizations are likely to accept that it exists in the future. ☐
- B It has not been officially identified as a medical problem. ☐
- C Experts consider it to be an addiction when it is very serious. ☐

5 What is Colin's personal opinion on computer addiction?

- A Certain behaviour probably indicates the existence of an addiction. ☐
- B Some people think they have an addiction, but they don't. ☐
- C More people will believe that computer use can become an addiction. ☐

B Listen to a teenager called Zak talking about a social experiment called 'Digital Detox' that he did with his friends. Tick (✓) A, B, or C.

1 Where does Zak say the inspiration came from for the 'Digital Detox' experiment?

- A a similar experiment in a recent movie about social networking ☐
- B one of his teachers setting the students a challenge ☐
- C some of his friends responding to a bet ☐

2 Who does Zak say was responsible for keeping an eye on the students during the experiment?

- A some students from his class ☐
- B some of his teachers ☐
- C some students from another class ☐

3 What does Zak say he found particularly strange during the experiment?

- A realizing that his phone wasn't in his pocket ☐
- B resorting to the landline to call his girlfriend ☐
- C refraining from making posts on Facebook ☐

4 How does Zak say one of his friends managed to deal with the rules of the experiment?

- A by notifying her Facebook friends of her intentions ☐
- B by having her security details changed ☐
- C by giving her phone to her parents ☐