

Situation: Andrea and her mother are talking by phone about some interesting places. It's ten in the morning

Andrea: Hello, Mom!

Mom: Hello, Andrea. How are you?

Andrea: I'm fine. This hotel is very nice and comfortable, and Washington D.C. is very interesting.

Mom: What places have you visited?

Andrea: I've been to the White House. And we have also visited the Washington Monument and the Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials.

Mom: And which of the places was the most interesting?

Andrea: The Presidential White House, I think.

Mom: OK darling, take care. I'll call you on Saturday afternoon.

Andrea: But I won't be at the hotel. Mom, I'll be at the zoo and I'll visit a famous park.

Mom: I'll call you on Sunday noon, then.

Andrea: But, I still won't be at the hotel. I'll be at the aquarium.

Mom: OK, I'll call you in the evening, then.
