The heroes of Britain

Every autumn a TV channel organizes the Pride of Britain awards ceremony. The awards celebrate people who make the world a better place and inspire others. The winners are ordinary people, but they all did something extraordinary. The programme shows a special film about each winner. They are children, teenagers and adults, from six to 95 years old. The public, charities and the emergency services (firefighters, police, etc.) send in the names of people they want to win, and famous actors, politicians and singers present the awards.

Here are some recent winners:
Child o f Courage:
TOM PHILLIPS, 9
When a bull attacked Tom's dad on their farm, Tom drove the farm tractor (for the first time!) at the bull and saved his dad's life.

Teenager of Courage:
JACK CARROLL, 14
Jack has cerebral palsy and needs a wheelchair, but he still hopes to become a professional comedian. He first performed at a party for his parents, and then posted the video on YouTube. He often makes jokes about his disability.

Great Bravery: .
LUCY GALE, 33
Lucy, a taxi driver, saved two drivers after their cars crashed on a train crossing. She then moved one of the cars off the crossing seconds before an express train passed, and stopped a terrible train crash.
