

safe, schoolgirl, brave, speeches, chain, attack, rights, survival, Prize, politician

Malala Yousafzai is a _____ girl from Pakistan. Her father ran a _____ of schools in Swat Valley. Malala loved going to school in Swat. At first she wanted to be a doctor. Then she wanted to be a _____. The Taliban took control of Swat in 2007. they didn't want girls and boys to go to school together. In fact, they didn't want any girls over ten years of age to go to school. Malala went to school anyway. She also gave _____ about education _____ and blogged about her life as a Pakistani _____. The Taliban destroyed many schools, but Malala stayed strong. On October 9, 2012, a member of the Taliban boarded Malala's school bus. He shot Malala in the head. He also shot two of her classmates. All three girls survived the _____. Doctors moved Malala to a safer hospital in England. When she got better, Malala wrote a book about her _____. She also gave a speech at the UN and won the Nobel Peace _____. Malala wants every girl to have an education. She hopes it will be _____ to return to Swat Valley one day.