

ANOTHER means: one more, an additional, an extra; a different one; an alternative one

Another + Singular Countable noun:

He bought another motorbike. Would you like another cup of coffee?

Don't worry about the rain. We can go another day. I think you should paint it another colour.

Another + One:

I loved the sandwiches. Can I have another one, please? (= an additional sandwich)

A: You can borrow more of these books if you want. B: Ok, I'll take another one. (= another book)

Another + number + plural noun (a couple of, a few etc.):

In another 20 years my laptop is going to be obsolete. I'm going to spend another three days here.

They gave him another couple of months to finish the sculpture.

OTHER goes before plural countable and uncountable nouns or even a *singular noun.

Other + Plural Countable/Uncountable Noun:

We have other sizes if you need. Have you got any other information about the incident?

Some days are sunny, other days can be very rainy. I got some other news on the radio.

I can't help you because I'm busy with other things.

Other + Ones:

We don't need those numbers, we need other ones. (= different numbers)

A: You can borrow my notes if you want. B: Thanks, but I need other ones. (= other notes)

The + other + one (singular):

I don't know about this colour, I like the other one better. I need the email, but not this one, the other one!

OTHERS (pronoun) replaces "other ones" or "other + plural noun".

I don't like these postcards. Let's ask for others. (others = other postcards)

Some of the employees arrived on Monday, others arrived the following day. (others = other employees)

The others

He has interviewed two candidates, but he insists on interviewing the others. (= other candidates)

What are the others doing tonight? (= other people)

Exercise:

- I'm not sure about this packaging, I think I like the _____ one better.
- Some of the shareholders are at the hotel, _____ are at the convention centre.
- The company's just bought _____ sealing machine.
- We have _____ sizes if this one does not fit you right.
- What are the _____ doing after the meeting?
- Some managers will be here in person, _____ will be online.
- She might need _____ two weeks abroad to be able to visit all the clients.
- Relax about the delay. They can stay _____ hour or so.
- We should have the front desk made in _____ material.
- The client didn't like these containers. Shall we ask for _____ ?
- His boss gave him _____ couple of days to finish the job.
- They've already checked the first set, but he demanded they checked the _____ as well.
- We like this combination, but can we see _____ one, please?
- We need those figures. We also need the _____ ones.
- I have _____ things to do before leaving the office.
- No, not this file, the _____ one!