The children find water in the desert

One day Lucy and William decided to go for a walk in the desert near their house. It was summer and the day was hot and sunny. The children wore shorts and T-shirts and they had hats because they didn't want to be too hot. They wanted to have a picnic, so Lucy brought cheese and tomato sandwiches, and William brought biscuits and a big bottle of water.

They walked for a long time. Then Lucy said, 'I'm tired and my feet hurt. Let's stop behind these big rocks and eat our picnic.' After they ate their food, they saw an orange and green lizard which was running round the rocks. 'What a beautiful lizard! Where is it going? Let's follow it!' William said.

They followed the lizard, but it ran very quickly over the sand and rocks and soon they couldn't find it. The children looked round. 'Where are we now?' Lucy asked. They were in a new place. They didn't know where they were! 'I'm thirsty,' said William. 'And we drank all our water!'

Lucy said, 'Well, I remember that hill. We're about two kilometres away from it.' 'OK,' said William. 'Look. There was a river here before, but now there is no water. But there might still be water below us.' They started kicking the sand and moving it with their hands. Soon they found some water and drank it. When their bottle was full again, they went home.
