

Grammar training

The subject of the Gerund/Infinitive

Match the two halves.

- |                                   |   |
|-----------------------------------|---|
| 1) We arranged for a car          | my opening the window?                          |
| 2) It's easy for an outsider      | to collect us from the airport.                 |
| 3) Would you mind                 | for the wedding to end.                         |
| 4) I sat waiting patiently        | to say what should be done in such a situation. |
| 5) I'm waiting for him to realize | them to move away.                              |
| 6) The systems analyst wants      | how stupid he's been.                           |
| 7) We never expected              | me to pick you up in the morning?               |
| 8) Would you like                 | the designer to complete the project.           |

