Last summer, Rick went to the town; He loves the calm and likes to watch beautiful landscapes. On these vacations, he was able to enjoy the tranquility and the sound of nature. During all his vacations; he got up early because that way; he could watch the sunrise, an incredible universe that he can't see in his city. He also observed the birds on the fruit trees, but the town where he was was a coffee plantation; the animals made beautiful sounds preparing to fly in search of food. Rick helped his relatives work on one of the farms that they have, which is dedicated to planting coffee. The job was to collect the red beans from the coffee bushes. That made him feel like a productive person.

They cooked every day in the morning; They ate coffee with bread for breakfast, they visited many lakes and made bonfires at night although it was very cold at night on the farm.
