We got off the train at a small station in the countryside, and walked to campground. It was getting dark, and we were tired from the trip. When we got to the campsite, it was difficult to see. We had to get a flashlight from the man in the small corner store at the entrance, and then we went to put up the tent. Half an hour later, we were still trying, but we were lucky because we got some help from one of the other campers. Then we sent Joe to get some wood, so we could light a fire.

The expert of anything was once beginner.
