THE CROWN

Q: I just thought you were _____, you might _____

W: I might understand it if it'd been made within my lifetime

Q: Mhm, you're right, it's been with us for _____, it might even be a rental

W: Why don't you just buy a big new one

Q: I _____ _____ a big new one

W: But it would come with the right sockets and jacks, you got satellite _____ as well. With hundreds of different channels, from all over the _____

Q: What? And abandon the BBC? I can't _____ _____

W: You wouldn't be abandoning the BBC Granny…

Q: Switching to _____ would be seen as a betrayal at the National Broadcaster by the Head of State. It'd be treason. Like me becoming a _____. And just imagine this place with a huge horrid dish on the roof, like a spaceship

W: They could hide that. You could just close your eyes, bury your head in the sand and and pretend you don't know what's going on.

Q: Yes, I _____ I can do _____

W: I'll see if we could get you that specialist racing channel

Q: you mean like at the betting shops? With night race from America? Ump, I'd never do any _____.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

W: Your racehorse owner, it's _____ of your work

Q: Oh, yes, you're right, it does seem to have had _____ _____. Even the televisions are metaphors in _____ _____

LIVEWORKSHEETS