

There is / There are

1 Add the correct form of there is or there are to complete these short dialogues.

They can be positive, negative or questions.

0 X: Is there a good café in your town?

Y: Yes, there is.

1 X: _____ any Italian restaurants in Selforth?

Y: Yes, _____.

2 X: _____ a Japanese restaurant near here?

Y: No, _____.

3 X: _____ any fried chicken shops in Barton?

Y: No, _____, but _____ a burger bar.

2 Complete the sentences with there is, there are, there isn't or there aren't.

Places to eat in Northfields:

0 There is a Polish restaurant. (✓)

1 _____ three burger bars. (✓)

2 _____ a French restaurant. (X)

3 _____ two pizzerias. (✓)

4 _____ four cafés. (✓)

5 _____ an Indian restaurant. (✓)

6 _____ a sandwich bar. (X)

7 _____ two Chinese restaurants. (✓)

8 _____ any vegetarian restaurants. (X)

3 Complete the dialogue using the quantifiers in the box. (!) There is one extra word.

a an any How many How much lot of lots many much some Lola: I'm starving. Is there a pizza in the fridge?

Enda: No, there isn't, but I can make _____ sandwiches.

Lola: That's a good idea!

Enda: _____ pieces of bread are there?

Lola: Err, there are four. Is there any cheese?

Enda: Yes, there is. There's _____ of cheese – look!

Lola: Can I have this one in my sandwich, please?

Enda: Of course. What about a drink?

Lola: _____ milk is there? We can drink that.

Enda: There isn't _____ – maybe half a glass, but there's a _____ cola.

Lola: Oh dear! There aren't _____ bags of crisps – there's only one, Look.

Enda: That's OK – I can have _____ apple with mine.