Charlie and Monty Monster are good friends. On Thursday they play basketball.

- Come on, Charlie. Time to go home. It's nearly time for bed.
- OK, Mum. Bye, Monty.
- Bye, Charlie.

It's Friday morning at Charlie's house.

- Wake up, Charlie. It's time to go to school.
- Ahhh! Oh, no! I don't want to go to school. We work hard at school and I'm tired.
- I know you work hard at school but don't worry: you can relax on Saturday and Sunday.

After school...

- Look, Mum! I've got an invitation from Monty Monster: "Please, come and stay with me on Saturday night. From Monty Monster".
- Do you want to stay with Monty at his house?
- Yes, of course. He's my friend. I can relax at Monty's house.

It's Saturday. Charlie is at Monty Monster's house.

- Hello, Charlie. This is my mum and dad.
- I'm Big-Foot Fred.
- I'm One-Eye Elsie.
- Hello!
- Let's walk the dog now, Charlie.
- OK.

Three hours later.

- Do you walk the dog every Saturday?
- Yes, I do. I walk the dog every day. Look, here's my sister.
- Hi, Charlie. I'm Six-Leg Susie. I go running on Saturday.
- Come on. Let's all run home together.

Back at Monty Monster's house.

- Let's go swimming now, Charlie.
- But Monty, when do you go to bed?
- We don't go to bed. We are monsters. We don't need to sleep. Come on, Charlie!
- OK. But you never relax!

It's Sunday morning and it's time for Charlie to go home.

- Goodbye, Charlie.
- Thanks for your visit.
- See you again soon, I hope.
- Er, yes. Thank you for having me.

At Charlie's house.

- What do you want to do now, Charlie? Do you want to watch a film?
- No, I don't. I want to go to bed and then I want to go to school tomorrow.
- Wow! You want to go to bed and you want to go to school.
- Oh, yes, Mum! I want to go to school so I can relax.
