READING 2 (Items 5–10)

Nearly everyone likes ice cream. Most children love it and will eat it every day. Ice cream is a sweetened frozen food typically eaten as a snack or dessert. It is usually made from dairy products, such as milk and cream with sugar. It usually has fruit or other flavours such as chocolate, coffee, or some kind of nut.

Phrases such as "frozen custard", "frozen yogurt", "sorbet", "gelato" and others are used for different types of ice cream like in the United States. But in other countries, such as Italy and Argentina, one word is used for all types.

Ice cream is not a modern invention. In China, in about 200 BCE, a mixture of milk and rice was frozen. In 37–68 CE, the Roman Emperor Nero ate ice from the mountains with pieces of fruit on the top. But his favourite one was snow flavoured with honey and nuts. Ice cream needs very cold place to store that's why it was not known for many people.

Ice cream became popular throughout the world in the second half of the twentieth century. The invention of fridges makes people all over the world know this kind of sweet. I think fridges became very common that time because they were cheaper. Nowadays, we can buy ice cream in large cartons, in bars covered with chocolate, and between or on top of biscuits. We eat it as a dessert at the end of a meal or at any time of the day or evening.
