THE BIGGEST MUSIC VIDEO EVER

(1) On December 2012, Gangnam style, a music video by Korean musician Psy, became the first video in internet history to be watched by a billion people. This was such a high number that YouTube had to update its software to work with so many visitors. In may 2014, YouTube said that the video had two billion viewers- another world record.

(2) The song is about Seoul's fashionable Gangnam area (often compared to Beverly Hills in California) and laughs at people who try class by saying they are "Gangnam Style". Psy laughs at them by singing a style, saying he is "Gangnam style" too.

(3) The song has a unique dance, called the Horse Trot, where Psy dances like he is riding a horse. He said I took him a month to invent the dance, working with a professional dancer every day. They also tried moving like a panda and kangaroo. Even important people such as Barack Obama and David Cameron have tried the dance, with mixed results. And in 2021 UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon said it was something which could create peace in the world.

(4) The song was hugely successful. The South Korean government said that in 2012 it brought $13.4 million in the country. People in the music industry said it helped develop the internet as a way of making music popular. This means that music can come from anywhere, not just from North America and Europe. Love it or hate it, everyone knows the song. Just don't listen to it first thing in the morning, or you'll be singing it all day.
