1. Bee

I am attracted to sweet perfume. I like blue, yellow, purple and white. I eat nectar and pollen.

2. Moth

I look for white, yellow, or pale colours and strong sweet scent in the evening light. I'll sip nectar while I'm flying.

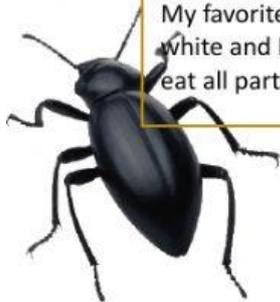

3. Sunbirds

I like scarlet red coloured flower with no scent. I can find deeply hidden nectar.

4. Fly

I don't have sweet tooth. I need to find something dead to lay my eggs on so they can eat and grow up stong.

5. Beetle

My favorite colours are green and white and I love fruity smells. I will eat all parts of the flower.

1. 4 O'clock flower

My beautiful yellow petals and strong sweet scent will intoxicated you and guide to my nectar. I love to bloom in the evening sunlight.

2. Jack-in-the-Pulpit

I'm not a flower. I'm a dead animal lying on the forest floor. Just take a whiff of my stinky smell and check out the flesh cloured tripes.

3. Magnolia

I'm huge, white and showy with fruity smell. I don't last very long. You can nibble on my petals for some extra food.

4. Catmint

I am deep purplish-blue and I smell like a sweet, fresh mint. You're welcome to take some pollen, too.

5. Aloe

I have red colour petals with long and tubular-shaped. I have lots of nectar but you need to find them.
