A Brick Paradise

Legoland Children's Amusement Park is located on the area equal to 26 football fields. It is so large that there are 8 smaller theme parks within it, and each has a lot of fun, not only for children but also for adults.

In the heart of the park, in the Miniland area, there are entire neighbourhoods of Berlin, Frankfurt on Main, Amsterdam, Venice and other legendary cities, created on a scale of 1:20 of 25 million Lego details. And this is not static scenery at all as life in the tiny streets is booming. By the way, guests of the park can try themselves in town planning: they are provided with another 50 million details to build houses, create animals and beloved characters. There are no limits, only their imagination.

When parents want some time for themselves there is the Adventure Land, which has its fabulous sea, a real sandy beach with palm trees, water games and sunbeds. Kids are offered ice cream and refreshments, and adults can enjoy something in the beach bar or on the terrace under the waterfall.

In the Kingdom of the Knights, there are arranged tournaments with the participation of all comers, expeditions for gold in the royal forest and even allow them to saddle a fiery dragon. To those for whom the fiery dragon is not extreme enough, the straight road is to Lego Extreme. Visitors will be involved in an adventurous world of dizzying mini-car racings, roller coaster rides, 4D movies, a children's driving school. In the World of Imagination, pedal cars fly on the hinged roads, the entire park is visible from the observation tower, and the breathtaking view of the entire Lego world inspires to dream big.

In the Adventure World you can go deep into the wild jungle on foot or by canoe, experience the dizzying descent from a 12-meter water slide, find dinosaur treasures and enter the Puppet Theatre. Finally, the Atlantis Zone will impress guests with marine life in a large aquarium.

The Lego City has its port, where transport ships are unloaded, miniature cars scurry about on the roads, and new elements emerge from the Lego factory in front of which the city is made. Everyone can create their own Lego brick and keep it as a memory of visiting this wonderful place. All is needed, it is to choose a draft from the offered ones, decide on the colour and pattern, adjust the size and press the production button. With Legoland, life seems to be brighter.
