Learning Objectives:

1. To be able to read and analyze a text about a uniform design.
2. To be able to distinguish the styles/designs of the different jobs' uniforms.

My new uniform is like a tracksuit, dark blue with a green and white stripe along the shoulders and down the sleeves. The white stripe is reflective, to show up when there isn't much light outside. The jacket has a zip and inside pockets, to keep money and other small things. It also features the post office logo on the front right at the top. The trousers are quite wide, with waterproof material from the ankle to the knee, so, if the ground is wet, the bottom of the trousers stays dry. The trousers have zips at the bottom and zipped pockets on the side. There are comfortable trainers for the feet, because you have to walk a lot in this job.

The uniform has a cap with a light on the front, so the postman or woman can switch this on if they are working when it is dark. And there is a special belt with pockets to carry things like phones or keys; this leaves the person's hands free to deliver the post. The belt also holds an alarm, which makes a loud sound which can protect the person from aggressive dogs or other dangers.

My uniform design will suit people who are all shapes and sizes – big or slim, tall or short – because the design is loose-fitting and the fabric is stretchy. I hope everyone who wears my design will feel comfortable and smart!
