

SOME / ANY

Exercises School

philipmartin.info

Put some or any on the empty gaps:
(Sometimes both are possible, depending on how you perceive the situation)

- There are _____ apples in the fridge.
- Is there _____ bank near here? I'm new and still wandering around the city.
- There aren't _____ oranges left!
- Would you like _____ coffee?
- Do you have _____ clue how to solve this problem?
- I have _____ very interesting books, come and we can read together!
- Tonny was having _____ problems with his car, so he couldn't drive his child to the school.
- She didn't have _____ toys left to play with, so I borrowed her _____.
- Can I have _____ salt in my salad, please?
- They couldn't buy _____ roses for the teacher. It was too expensive!
- My parents are usually busy, so they don't have _____ time left for me!
- What an interesting story! Do you have _____ more?
- I have _____ problems with this computer, what about you?
- Do you have _____ pencil to borrow, I don't have _____ with me now.
- Would you like _____ juice to drink?
- There are _____ great hot-dogs over there!
- I would like to buy _____ training shoes, but I don't know what to choose.
- I think that I can see _____ guys over there coming towards us!
- She is making _____ nice cakes!
- Are there _____ dishes I can use?
- May I take _____ handouts for my friends who are not coming on class today?
- Are there _____ pupils outside or everyone is here?
- There are _____ meals you can try for free!

Any

*in 'real' questions and negatives:
I don't have any friends.
Do you have any friends?
Is there any bank near here?
She can't do any homework herself.

Drill: Exercise 2 (practising with not 'real questions' - questions where you offer something or where you expect the answer 'yes' - it can be done orally since it's a kind of drill) in each sentence use some or any.

- Would you like _____ tea?
- Could you pass me _____ salt, please?
- Would you like _____ biscuits?
- May I take _____ biscuits?
- Am I allowed to use _____ materials for free?
- Could you tell me if there are _____ banks nearby?
- Can I take _____ pencils?
- Would you like to eat _____ bananas?
- Are there _____ students who are not present?

Some

- in positive sentences and 'polite' (not real) questions like- 'Would you like some coffee?'

