

S22-2 listening

1. Austria scored, particularly highly in social support and its citizens' freedom
2. The Alps cover around 62% of Austria
3. Canada still ranks high across pretty much every category
4. And aren't overly concerned about personal achievement or status
5. The Swedish government lists perks such as long parental leave policy
6. Canada's high happiness score also comes from its tolerant approach to multiculturalism
7. They have a bus system that ensures no one in the country has to work more than 10 minutes
8. Beautiful landscapes that make you feel like you're wandering through middle earth

Grammar

1. Эта компания дает (provides) много бонусов (привилегий) -
(нейтральный стиль)

2. В этой стране много стране много коррупции. (более формальный)

This country _____

3. Большинство людей живут в горах.

4. Этот город предлагает своим гостям большой выбор того, чем можно заняться (более формальный)

_____ things to do.

5. На столе было много еды (менее формальный)

6. На улице было много счастливых людей. (менее формальный)

Vocabulary

--

stellar	swap	propelled	overly	emphasis	particularly appeal	perks	seen	by far	driven	coming

1. This film _____ me to become a teacher.
2. It's _____ the most intriguing nation in the world.
3. He can boast _____ academic achievements
4. You shouldn't place too much _____ on his words
5. Tom's _____ was noticed by people from all walks of life.
6. You shouldn't be _____ concerned about the upcoming trip.
7. I hope this job will provide some additional _____
8. Next week they will _____ places and will repeat the switch weekly.
9. Keep your office space looking good, _____ your desk.
10. I don't see where these ideas are _____ from.
11. Being jealousy-_____ he doesn't give account of his actions.
12. Proper education should be _____ as a legal right of every human.

Speaking

1. What do all happy countries have in common?
2. Have you visited any of these countries? What did you like about them?
3. Which of these countries would you like to visit and why?
4. What does national happiness depend on? What can help Russia become happier?

Extra*

Facts About the History of Iceland:

1. In 874 Viking explorers from Norway & the British Isles settled on the island.

2. Norwegians fled from Norway to Iceland due to an unfavourable King at that time. However, the Irish and Scottish also settled in Iceland. Some of them served as slaves to the Norwegians.

3. Iceland was actually ruled by Denmark until 1944. On June 17, 1994 Iceland gained full independence.

4. About 364,000 people live in Iceland with over 200,000 people living in the capital and greater Reykjavik area. Iceland is the most sparsely populated country in Europe. In terms of ethnicity-89% are Icelandic, 5% Polish, 1% Lithuanian and 5% other. The official language of Iceland is Icelandic. However, English is taught as a second language and most Icelanders speak several languages.

5. Christmas Eve vs Christmas Day is the big day in Iceland. Trolls from the mountains come down to visit and give gifts to the kids.

6. Although there is snow and ski resorts in Iceland, skiing is not a popular sport or activity. There usually isn't enough snow at the resorts for skiing. But the Blue Mountains are known for ski slopes and resorts.

7. Iceland has a lot of churches. The churches were also built as a shelter for people travelling around the island. You can literally go to Iceland as a photographer and travel around the country taking pictures of the churches and surrounding landscapes. Icelanders are Christian. 80% belong to the Lutheran church.

8. Traditionally when children are named, their last names come from the first name of the father with the Icelandic word for son/son or daughter/dottir added at the end. For example, a baby girl is born and given the first name Emma. Her father's name is John so her last name will be Johndottir. Her full name is Emma Johndottir. This translates to Emma, daughter of John. However, in modern times, some people are choosing to use their mother's first name as their last name.