

You are going to London next week. Write an email to your friend in London. Ask him/her to arrange accommodation for you and to pick you up at the airport. Give details about your flight.

1. Complete each gap with ONE word.

Hi Peter,

How                    you? I'm fine. I'm going                    London for three days next Sunday. Can you                    me up at the airport? I'm flying with British Airways                    Prague to Heathrow. My                    lands at 9 pm. I don't have a hotel reservation. Is                    a good hotel near the airport? Can you                    a single room for me there? Please let                    know. I hope we can go to the pub together                    Sunday or Monday evening. I'm leaving on Tuesday early in                    morning. Thank you                    your help.

See you                    the airport.

Yours,

Tom