

Present perfect simple or continuous? Choose the best option.

A- You look tired.

B- I have been writing / have written for two hours.

A- Have you finished/ Have you been finishing your story yet?

B- Not really. I can't think of a nice ending.

A- Why don't you ask Jenny? She has helped / has been helping me many times with my homework.

A- Wow, Mary speaks English fluently.

B- I know. She has studied / has been studying English for the past three years!

A- That's good!

B- Yeah! And her brother has moved / has been moving to New York.

A- Really? Has she visited / Has she been visiting him?

B- No, she hasn't had / hasn't been having any time. She is very busy with school.

A- Tina. What have you done / have you been doing all day?

B- I have cleaned / have been cleaning my room.

A- What about the rest of your chores?

B- I haven't done / haven't been doing them yet.

A- Remember, Tina. You promised.

B- I know, mom.