Red Nose Day

In the UK there (1) has been _____ (be) a Red Nose Day for the last 25 years. On this day, many people buy a plastic red nose to wear to help poor people in Africa. Read about what happened in Charlie's school and town on the latest Red Nose Day.

Charlie: It's been great. All my friends (2) _____ (buy) red noses to wear and they all look really funny. We (3) _____ (organise) a lot of events in my school to raise money for Africa. The choir has given a concert and the music teacher, Mrs Kelly, (4) _____ (compose) a new song for them. When our parents listened to it, they were surprised it was so good! Lots of people have bought concert tickets.

We've also learnt more about Africa in our lessons. We've seen clips of children in the new schools which people built after the last Red Nose Day. We've also listened to an African Children's Choir. Their music was great!

(5) What do people do on Red Nose Day?

(6) What did people build after the last Red Nose Day?
